FOURTEEN PAGES—FIVE CENTS

THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN FLOODS—Aerial view shows flood conditions in suburbs south of Chicago. Thousands are homeless, schools closed, and damage is estimated in the millions following two-days of rain. With an unofficial ten-inches recorded, weather bureau predicts rain will end Tuesday night.

Floods Menace North Indiana

HAMMOND, Ind. (P)—The flood crisis passed in Hammond and suburbs Tuesday, but a weekend of torrential rains built up a fast-spreading flood at Plymouth, halfway across Northern Indiana.

An end of the rains was forecast for Tuesday night. Yellow River, ordinarily only feet deep, rose a foot to an 18-foot stage in downtown Plymouth, chasing 400 families from their homes. Another 150 homes were flooded around Lake of the Woods northeast of Plymouth.

The Little Calumet fell as much as a foot at Hammond, and 350 national guardsmen and 5,000 volunteers turned from sandbagging work to patrols to watch for crumbling levees or looting of an estimated 2,000 deserted homes.

Across the state line, winds helped dry out the sodden flood debris left by Chicago's worst rain of the century.

Urge Trade Regulations On Coffee

WASHINGTON (P)—The price of coffee, which has political as well as economic significance, became the subject for renewed Senate inquiry Tuesday in an avowed effort to impose government trading regulations.

Sen. Beall (R-MD), reopening an inquiry by his Senate Banking Committee, said unjustified price increases in coffee cost Americans "an estimated $28 million dollars" from January to August, and added:

"Both the Federal Trade Commission and the members of the subcommittee agree that it is necessary, to protect the public interest, to have remedial legislation to prevent a recurrence of unwarranted increases in coffee prices." Gustavo Lobo Jr., president of the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange, contended that federal regulation is not needed, and said "we do not think it would have any effect on the price of coffee."

The hearing followed by one day an FTC charge the Exchange "contributed to and promoted" the price increases early this year by "unlawful restraint of trade."

Adding political overtones to the move was a telegram sent by four Republican congresswomen congratulating the FTC on its action.

"This is another example of the diligent efforts of the Republican administration to protect legitimately the interests of all the American people," said the telegram signed by Reps. St. George of New York, Harden of Indiana, Church of Illinois and Thompson of Michigan.

Blame Communists For Explosion At AFL Meeting

CHICAGO (P)—The president of an AFL union local Tuesday blamed Communist-dominated rival unions for a dynamite explosion which shattered the local's four-story building Monday night.

The explosion shortly before midnight blew a 6 by 4 inch hole in a cement slab, shattered aluminum door frames and broke 30 windows at the office building of Local 1031 of the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers on the West Side. No one was injured.

"The only reason for this bombing," said M. Frank Darling, president and business agent of Local 1031, "is the Communists. I have taken about 14,000 dues paying members away from the Communist-controlled unions in 11 years. We are now organizing and passing out handbills in front of 10 companies where these Communist-controlled unions operate."

ADVANCE OF SCIENCE
BLACKSBURG, Va. (P)—Science which is causing people to live longer, is shortening the life of broiling size chickens.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says it took an average of 89 days to bring chickens to broiling size in 1917. But by 1952, because of advances in breeding, nutrition and disease control, such chickens reach market age in 72 days.

300 Rioting Prisoners Back In Cells

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (P)—Three hundred rioting prisoners of the South Dakota State Penitentiary gave up two guard hostages and returned to their cells late Tuesday.

Their surrender ended a 23-hour rebellion that flared up at supper Monday night.

Said Warden G. Norton Jameson:

"We have made no concessions. The prisoners are going back to their cells or have gone back to their cells. And it doesn't look as if the damage is as heavy as it first appeared."

The end came after Gov. Sigurd Anderson presented an ultimatum to the prisoners — give up hostages and return to cells or "face the consequences."

The ultimatum was backed up by a grim ring of some 200 armed National Guardsmen, sheriff's deputies and other peace officers who stood guard over the cellblock the rioters had dominated since the riot began.

The two hostages—George Reed and E. F. Lambertson—were freed unharmed as part of the surrender. Twenty-five unarmed members of the State Motor Patrol went to the cell block to escort the two hostages to safety.

Richard B. Ielski, Minnehaha County state's attorney, said he would file second-degree kidnapping charges against at least four inmates and possibly five others for seizing the guards. He did not name the inmates.

Gov. Anderson called it an "unnecessary riot."

Asks Court Order To Return Negroes To Milford School

GEORGETOWN, Del. (P)—State Atty. Gen. H. Albert Young asked the Court of Chancery Tuesday to return 11 expelled Negroes to the all-white Milford High School and promised that Delaware would preserve law and order.

Young, in an appeal before Vice Chancellor William Marvel, asserted that a court order readmitting the Negroes "will arm" Delaware officials "with the kind of decree where we can get those people who are trying to destroy our community and destroy our laws."

The attorney general emphasized that he was speaking as the chief legal officer of Delaware in backing the demand for a temporary injunction by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

What's more, Young said, he has the "wholehearted support" of Gov. J. Caleb Boggs and Delaware's two U. S. Senators — Republican John J. Williams and Democrat J. Allen Frear.

Young added that if the court orders the Negroes back to Milford High "the governor of the state and our United States senators" will "if it becomes necessary" lead these Negro students "by the hand into that school."

Hurricane Leaves Several Dead In Southern Haiti

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—Hurricane Hazel left a toll of death and destruction in Haiti Tuesday as it roared through the Windward Passage toward the Atlantic.

The storm's 115-mile winds reportedly left several persons dead and upward of 700 homeless as it thundered across Haiti's southern peninsula which juts westward from the main body of the island.

Moving forward at only seven m.p.h., the storm reportedly caused damage of $550,000 in Haiti.

Reports of death and damage were received by President Paul E. Magloire from Julian Conde, mayor of Aux Cayes, a city of 30,000 on the southern peninsula.

Aid was moving into the peninsula from Port au Prince, the capital. Red Cross teams reported roads blocked at Grand Goave, a sugar and banana community of 1,800 population 50 miles west of Port au Prince.

Winds rose to gale force in the Atlantic north of the Windward Passage as the tropical storm edged northward about 500 miles southeast of Miami. The Bahamas were warned against the approaching storm.

Cuba, on the west side of the Windward Passage, still had felt no high winds. The storm's center still approached that island's eastern tip.

Static electricity, the kind that sometimes makes a spark when you touch some metal object, is noticed often when the air is dry.

Mendes-France Wins Vote Of Confidence

PARIS (P)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France won a vote of confidence 3-to-1 from the French National Assembly Tuesday on the London conference plan to rearm West Germany in the alliance against Communist aggression.

At the same time Assembly leaders said they want the Premier to make what he has called "simultaneous and parallel" efforts to get a disarmament agreement between Moscow and the Western world.

The vote was 350-113, with the 99 Communist deputies furnishing the bulk of the opposition. Some of the 152 deputies who abstained, however, may swell the "nines" when the final London agreements come up for ratification.

Tuesday's vote authorized Mendes-France to go ahead with forming the Western European Union decided upon at London Oct. 3 as an enlargement of the five-nation Brussels Alliance of 1948. Britain and France are the prospective bulwarks of the new pact together with their enemies of World War II—Germany and Italy. The Netherlands, Belgium and little Luxembourg would also be members. The West Germans would join the rest in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which includes the United States and Canada among its 14 members.

News of the outcome pleased West German government circles in Bonn, committed to recruit 12 divisions for Western defense. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's regime had backed the European Defense Community Treaty until the treaty's death Aug. 30 and then made the London agreement the main plank of its foreign policy.

Mendes-France's victory by a wide margin was assured Monday night when the biggest party in Parliament, the Socialists, decided to throw its weight to his side. The Socialists control 105 of the 627 votes.

The Socialists, though not represented in the Cabinet, have backed Mendes-France consistently since he took office in June. However, this time they had first been expected to abstain. Then a rash of pro-government resolutions came in from strong Socialist organizations in the provinces.

The grass roots support gave urgency to the question of whether Socialists should join the Mendes-France Cabinet. They have not shared power in France for more than three years. Mendes-France wants them in. And some Socialist leaders agree with him. But many others would rather wait and see the final text of the London accords, and whether anything comes of current peace feelers in the cold war.

Wolfson May Seek Court Action Against Ward's

CHICAGO (P)—Louis E. Wolfson, 42-year-old financier, said Tuesday unless Montgomery Ward & Co. rescinds and repeals by law sections which he deems illegal he will seek court action.

Wolfson, who wants to control the second largest merchandising firm in the world, told a news conference a group he heads now has "in excess of 500,000 shares" of Ward common stock. He also detailed some of his plans if he reaches his goal to control Ward's.

The young Florida would-unseat Sewell Avery, Ward's 80-year-old board chairman, and eight other directors of the 700-million-dollar concern.

Wolfson, opening offices on La Salle Street, Chicago's financial row, said he was "satisfied" with the reaction he had received from investment trusts holding about 150,000 shares.

Ward's has 5,562,378 shares outstanding. The company's annual meeting of stockholders will be April 22. He said he will begin in January a nationwide tour to meet stockholders and obtain proxies.

He told the Assembly's political committee the Soviet proposal on operation of the international control agency was obscure and needed much clarification.

Vishinsky, who appears to be primed to push the disarmament debate along as rapidly as possible in contrast to previous stalling tactics, replied that Wadsworth was confusing the issue about the veto.

He said the control commission would not have authority to enforce decisions but must make reports to the Security Council where the big powers have a veto. He said on procedural points no veto would apply but provisions of the U. N. charter must apply on important decisions. This, in short, still means the veto always is in the background when the going gets rough.

Answers Criticism Of Demos, Labor Leaders

DETROIT (AP)—Defense Secretary C. E. Wilson said Tuesday he intended no slur against jobless workers in an off-hand "dog" story he told newsmen here yesterday.

He said he "certainly intended no invidious comparisons, nor insinuations likening people to dogs in any sense."

"And for any one to imply I did or under any circumstances would think that way," he said, "is a complete distortion of the facts."

Then he added: "I am sure that the distorted version of what I said is being used by the people of the adverse political party trying to capitalize on a misinterpretation of the full meaning of what I actually said."

With a new statement, Wilson jumped into the political storm which had swirled about him since his news conference remark first was published 24 hours earlier.

President Eisenhower sought to calm the storm with a statement expressing full confidence in his cabinet member.

At the news conference, Wilson had said he had "a lot of sympathy" for jobless workers, but he said he "always liked bird dogs better than kennelled dogs myself."

Grimacing broadly, the blunt-spoken former General Motors Corp. president then elaborated by saying: "You know, one who'll get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

"Those were the words used by Wilson as shown by a transcription from a tape recording of the news conference. Tuesday Wilson's statement said that the kennelled dog "would sit back on his haunches and yelp."

The heads of both the CIO and the AFL joined in rapping Wilson. Democratic party leaders seized on the quotation. Criticism even came from within the Republican party. CIO President Walter Reuther protested to Eisenhower. He called on the President to order Wilson to retract publicly or resign.

Eisenhower replied by saying, "I have never found him (Wilson) in the slightest degree indifferent to human misfortune."

The President said he was sure "initial newspaper reports did not fully reflect what Mr. Wilson said or meant" at the news conference.

Two hours after President Eisenhower issued his statement, Wilson issued his own. It started off by saying:

"In my press conference yesterday I thought back in my own home town I was in no danger of having anything I said taken out of context and misinterpreted. He said he told the dog story 'to make this point that I admired spirit and initiative x x x'."

Monday's news conference was devoted largely to a denial by Wilson of charges that General Motors has been favored in the awarding of defense contracts.

But other Wilson statements were virtually ignored as the "dog" remark spread across the nation.

In Washington Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell called Wilson's news conference statements "cruel and stupid."

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.), chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee, said he "heartily disagrees" with Wilson's news conference remark. He said it "an unfair remark to many of our good citizens."

U.S. Nurses In Jordan Merit Special Tribute For Service

WASHINGTON (P)—This is National Nurse Week and a time for paying tribute to nurses everywhere, including those hard working girls in the Kingdom of Jordan.

A U. S. Public Health nurse, Mildred Jones, has just returned from that Arab country of 1,330,000 persons.

What she had to say about her work there may interest not only the select few who have wondered about nursing conditions in Jordan, but also a much more numerous article: The U. S. taxpayer, who foots the bill for providing technical assistance to these countries.

When Miss Jones left her job as a public health nurse in Fulton County, Ga., two years ago to go on loan to the Jordan assignment, the Federal Security Agency announced:

"She will work with Jordanian nurses and other public health workers to extend public health nursing services, particularly in rural areas."

Convict 13 Puerto Ricans Of Conspiracy

NEW YORK (P)—Thirteen Puerto Rican Nationalists were convicted of seditious conspiracy against the United States Tuesday night.

A federal jury deliberated less than four hours.

Four of the accused already had been convicted of spraying the House of Representatives with bullets last March and wounding five congressmen.

The thirteen, including two women, sat silently with heads bowed as the foreman read the verdict.

The maximum penalty for each would be six years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

The Nationalist Party, which is dedicated to complete independence for Puerto Rico, first gained notoriety when two of its members attempted to assassinate former President Harry S. Truman. The Congress shooting came last March 1. The government charged that all 13 had conspired to bring about Puerto Rico's independence from the United States by force and violence and armed revolution.

Originally 17 had been indicted but four pleaded guilty before the trial started. They will be sentenced with the others.

Federal Judge Lawrence E. Walsh scheduled Oct. 26 for sentencing and hearing of defense motions.

IKE'S UNHEDGED BET

A basic tenet in Mr. Eisenhower's 1952 campaign for the White House was for decentralization of Federal Government and a return of many usurped powers to the states and their peoples. Oddly enough, this was a complete contradiction of the old-time Republican tradition of centralized government—just as the Democrats the last 20 years had contradicted their traditional torch-bearing for states' rights.

The switch in that landslide year apparently cost him no votes. The people plainly liked the promises, but the test obviously was to come after the performance. Thus far he has delivered faithfully and as rapidly as humanly possible.

So there is significance in the fact he is relentlessly stressing the federal shrinkage operation in virtually every speech he is making.

For example in his off-the-cuff talk in Missoula, Mont., he declared American citizens are better able to look after their needs "than is some bureaucrat in far-off Washington." A basic policy of his administration, he went on, is "the intense belief that every citizen is not a ward of a centralized Federal Government."

In Los Angeles he said "this administration believes that the individual citizen knows better how to spend his money than a bureaucrat in Washington," and noted that "we said we would reverse the deadly trend toward centralization of government power in Washington. This we have done."

On this issue his pledges from the beginning have been unmistakable and unfaltering. They are, evidently, to continue so. Certainly this reflects his continuing complete confidence in the crucial question: Will the people approve the practice as well as the theory? He is staking not only next year's Congressional control but GOP White House tenure in 1956 on his conviction they will endure some personal hardship for the sake of returned personal liberties. It is perhaps his biggest, most unhedged bet.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD —The most controversial show of the new TV season is "Medic," NBC's antipathy-and-stethoscope entry to battle the supremacy of "I Love Lucy."

After three years of trying to fight comedy with comedy, NBC has pitted a serious show about doctors in the prime Monday-at-9 slot opposite Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, still the top attractions on TV. Whether the new show will cut into "Lucy's" rating remains to be seen. Anyway, the costly "Medic" has aroused a lot of talk.

Some of the reviews were loaded with praise, others panned the show unmercifully. Many viewers think it's good. These include Miss Ball herself. "A fine show but oh so sad," she told me. "I cried through it. I'm only sorry I won't be able to watch it and our show, too."

Other viewers do no think the fight against disease is entertainment for the home. We'll see which viewpoint prevails.

Meanwhile, let's have a look at the medic himself. He's Richard Boone, 36, a Los Angeles boy. You've seen him in many movies, though you might not recognize him as the clean-shaven general practitioner on TV. Usually he has played a deep-eyed heavy with beard and other disguises.

Without the fake hair and make-up, Boone is a crazy-faced fellow with deep-set, penetrating eyes. He rejoiced in what TV has done for his movie career.

"In the past few weeks that the show has been on," he declared, "I have had more recognition both in public and in the trade than I ever got in the movies. It's a good thing for me. Nowadays, when banks put up the money on the basis of an actor's draw, you get paid on what you're worth in terms of the public's knowledge of you."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —Communist-in-government turned out to be an issue, after all, in the 1954 political campaign, which has been otherwise as dull as any in years.

It shows signs now of being a mean and angry issue.

Late last year, after his program to get security risks out of the government had been operating some months, Eisenhower expressed hope that by this year's election time Red-in-government would no longer be an issue.

Just as Eisenhower had predicted, the congressional election campaign started off with practically nothing said about subversives or security risks in government.

But recently Vice President Nixon blew the lid off with a statement the administration was removing "Communist, fellow travelers and security risks" not by the hundreds but by the thousands.

Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, accused Nixon of lying and challenged him to name a single Communist let out under Eisenhower's security program.

The President on April 27, 1953, issued an order setting up a program to get security risks out of the government payroll. A security risk could be a drunk, a sex pervert, a man who talked too much, a man with a criminal record, or one who had been a member of the Communist party or an organization sympathetic to it.

In October 1953, Eisenhower announced 1,456 security risks had been separated from the government.

He upped this figure to 2,200 in his State of the Union message to Congress last January. Democrats began to demand a breakdown to show just how many of the 2,200 were actually subversive.

They charged that Republican speakers who commented on Eisenhower's figures were trying to put over the idea that most of the 2,200 were Communists or subversives left from the Truman administration.

In March 1954, Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, came up with a breakdown which raised to 2,486 the number of security risks separated from the government.

More than half of them had resigned. But Young said that of the total 2,486 classified as security risks, 429 had information in their files indicating subversive activities or associations.

But, he conceded he could not say that this information about subversive activities or associations had resulted in the firing or resignation of a single one of the government workers.

Monday the Civil Service Commission announced 6,926 persons have been separated from the government under the security program and that 1,743 were fired or resigned with subversive data in their files.

That figure, 1,743 was 1,314 more than the 429 who, Young said in March, had subversive information in their files and were let out.

The commission said that out of 6,926 security risks no longer on the payroll, 2,611 were fired and 4,315 resigned "before determination was completed in cases where the file was known to contain unfavorable information."

Democrats accused the administration of a "hoax" on the public. Mitchell has argued that Nixon was lumping subversive cases with others who under the President's program, might be called security risks but were not disloyal. This is a fight which seems to be just starting.

A sign on chests of drawers and in closets might make members of the family more aware of the importance to Mama of each member of the family's being responsible for having a place for his things and keeping them where they belong.

A sign in the bathroom might make the family more conscious that unless the room is left in order by each user it's Mama's back that is going to have to bend to pick up the dirty clothes, hang up the used towel, and scrub out the tub.

USE SIGNS AS REMINDERS

A sign in the kitchen should be a hint that the one who eats a snack and leaves a trail of crumbs and dirty dishes is leaving them for Mama to take care of.

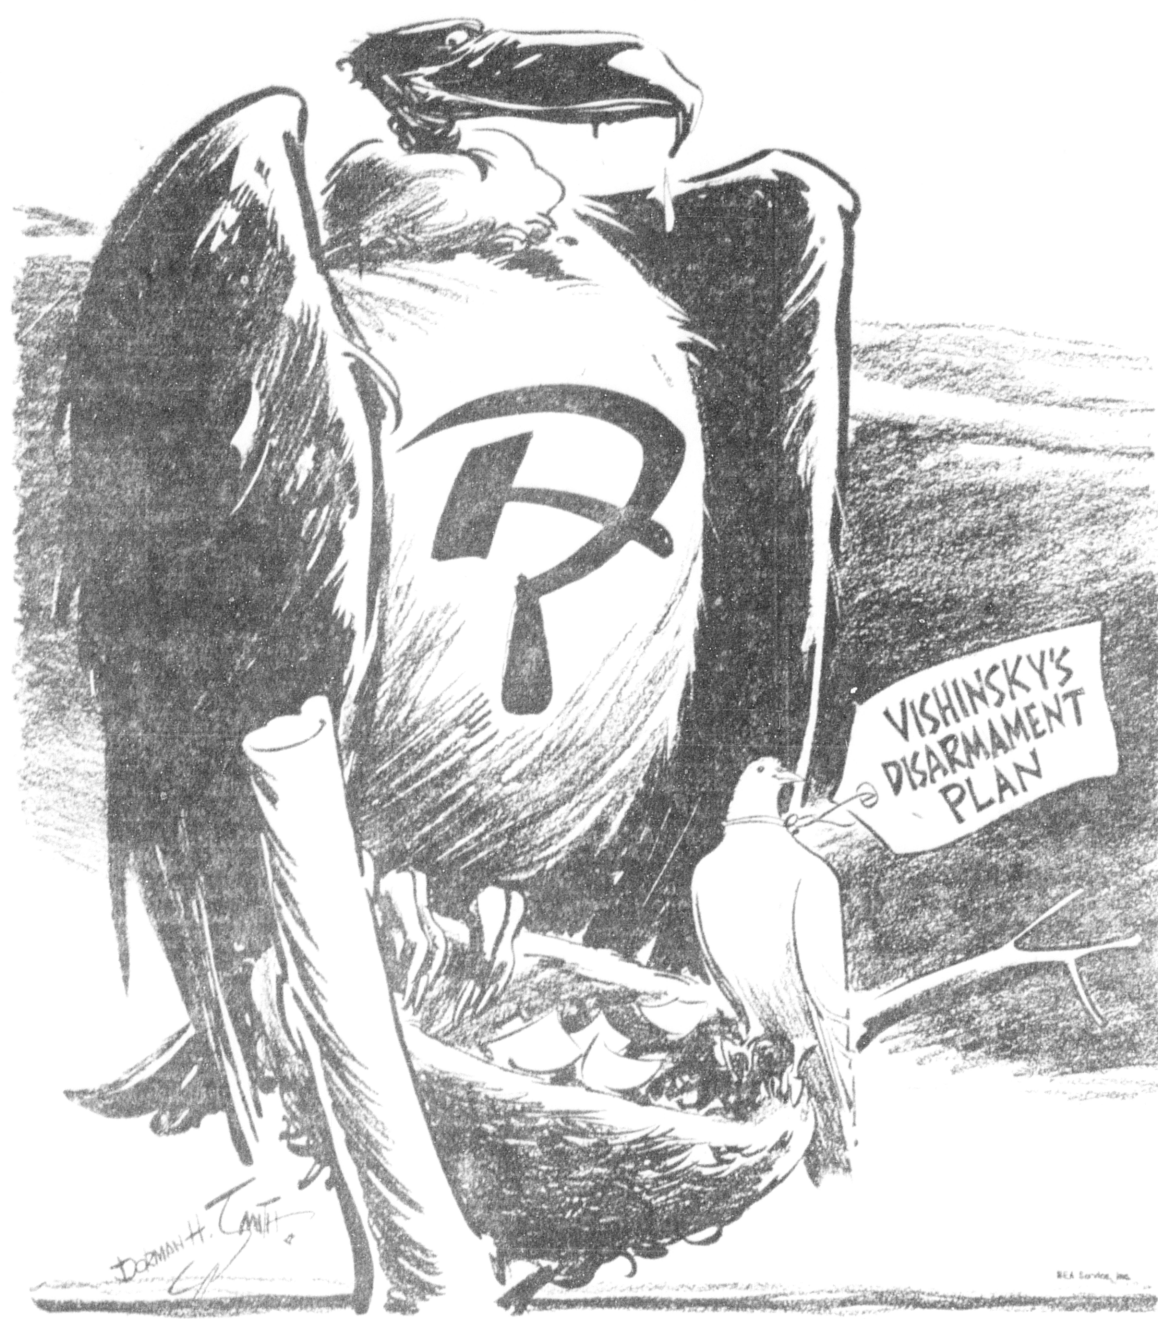

A sign on chests of drawers and in closets might make members of the family more aware of the importance to Mama of each member of the family's being responsible for having a place for his things and keeping them where they belong.

It isn't the physical labor of housework as much as the frustration of working hard and still not seeming to accomplish anything lasting that gets so many women down.

And the reason they get so frustrated is because they see a careless family undoing their work almost faster than they can get it done.

"It's better to help Mama than to have to remember her" is a motto that makes sense.

Vitamin B-12 Is Highly Effective in Anemia Cases

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written For NEA Service

A notable medical triumph is that over the disease known as pernicious anemia. Until about 1926 people who were ill with this disease eventually died from it, and the average duration of life was only a little over three years after the onset.

Today, death from pernicious anemia, if the diagnosis is made reasonably prompt and the proper treatment employed, is exceedingly rare.

The remarkable improvement in outlook for pernicious anemia victims is due principally to the fundamental observations and dog experiments of Whipple, Minot, Murphy and Castle, although knowledge has continued to advance with the investigations of others.

THIS DISEASE is not caused by overwork, as one correspondent appears to think. Put in as simple terms as possible, the cause of pernicious anemia is now considered to be the result of a deficiency of certain important elements in the diet. This in turn leads to a slowing down in the production of new blood cells and since these cells continue to die at the regular rate of speed an anemia or blood lack gradually develops.

THIS IS NOT the whole story, of course, since the disease is associated with changes in the stomach and often the liver. Nevertheless, the discovery that in essence pernicious anemia is a dietary deficiency led first to its treatment with liver or liver extracts.

The development of a substance known as crystalline vitamin B-12 is now of highest value in treatment. When given in the right quantities and fairly early in the disease, vitamin B-12, sometimes combined with liver or other substances is highly effective.

PERHAPS THIS DOES NOT seem so remarkable to the average reader, but to the medical man—especially one who can remember the fate of a person with pernicious anemia before the introduction of liver treatment—it constitutes a record, and particularly because the disease was described and set apart as long ago as 1855 by the famous English physician, Thomas Addison.

Following this for nearly 75 years the disease could be recognized and accurately diagnosed, but nothing more could be done for it than Addison could do. When I started my medical training, pernicious anemia was a fatal disease; when I finished it could be treated with a high degree of success!

NEW YORK —There are few greater pleasures in life than motoring—particularly if you don't know how to drive a car yourself.

I never have learned to operate an automobile and now, in my mid-forties, I have decided to spend the rest of my life as a machine age parasite—and have no intention of learning to drive a car.

My attitude isn't based on any hope that the horse will stage a comeback as America's most popular vehicle. I never learned to ride a horse for the same reasons.

I never learned to drive a car—I never felt sure I could keep either one on the road very long.

People always seem startled when they meet a grownup man who admits he can't or won't drive a car. For some reason they also get mildly indignant. They tend to put you down either as an idiot or perhaps a secret conspirator against the American way of life.

Actually there are hundreds of thousands of adults today who don't drive a car. Some don't because they dislike machinery. Some don't because they have chauffeurs to do it for them (this is the class I'm trying to join). And some, like a number of airplane pilots, simply are afraid of automobiles.

Historically speaking, of course, most of the great men of the human race never learned to drive automobiles—such as Julius Caesar, Napoleon, Galileo, Abraham Lincoln, or, I suspect, even Albert Einstein, who has done as much as any man to unlock the secrets of the universe.

A car is an urgent necessity today in most parts of America, and is becoming increasingly so. But if you dwell in the heart of a big city, as I do, an automobile can become a financial and nerve-wracking nuisance.

It costs more to feed, water, oil, and bed down a car in crowded Manhattan than it does a baby, and I'd simply rather have the baby.

Most motorists seem to get real pleasure out of driving, and some like to have someone like me along because it gives them a feeling of superiority.

"Can't understand a guy like you," they say. "You don't know what you're missing."

Whatever I'm missing, it sure isn't the scenery.

Dems Could Embarrass GOP

By Picking Up VP's Mortgage

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — They're already talking about the weird kind of politics which would result if the Democrats win control of Congress in the upcoming elections.

Topping the list of weirdies is the claim that the Democrats could embarrass the Republicans by insisting on picking up the mortgage on Vice President Nixon's home by giving him an official residence same as the White House for the President.

Last year, the Commission on Congressional and Judicial Salaries—composed of representatives from labor, industry, the professions and ordinary citizens—recommended that such a residence be established and a bill to accomplish it was introduced in both the House and Senate.

The Senate sent the measure to the Bureau of the Budget and got a prompt reply stating that there was plenty of money in the till for an official vice presidential residence, and furthermore, the idea did not violate Republican economy pledges.

When the bills were introduced, George Gallup, apparently hard up for a more vital issue, took a poll on the subject. He reported that 43 per cent of the people were against it, 39 per cent for it and 18 per cent didn't care.

THERE'S NO EVIDENCE in the official record that George's poll was directly responsible for Vice President Nixon being forced to continue the mortgage payments on his private residence. But Administration action behind it came to naught when he made the famous dead stop after the Budget Bureau's explanation of his "funds" he ran out of stamp of approval on the idea.

The Senate Public Works Committee never discussed the bill and it was as thoroughly ignored by the House Rules Committee.

The only positive action on the measure since then is its inclusion in a new bill prepared by the White House of Administration programs which Congress failed to act upon.

Which the President apparently still wants.

The idea for the residence was actually born in the brain of a fellow Californian of Mr. Nixon's, Lloyd Wright, not the architect, but an official of the American Bar Association who served on the Commission.

LLOYD'S PROPOSAL had the unanimous support of the full Commission. He argued that Nixon had greatly enhanced the job of the vice presidency, and because of that the position warranted this additional dignity.

About that time Nixon was traveling in the Far East and it was pointed out that when he got back he would have to do a lot of entertaining to repay the hospitality debts he had contracted out there.

Another member of the Commission offered the opinion that an official residence would make it easier to protect the vice president and, further, that most citizens had been shocked to learn that former Vice President Truman was living in a very modest apartment at the time of the death of Franklin Roosevelt. It was also pointed out that most of the military brass in town had official residences.

The bill introduced would have the government buy or build a house for $300,000 and provide $24,000 each year to be spent at the discretion of the vice president to maintain it.

It would have to be in the District of Columbia.

THAT EXPENDITURE WOULD BE in addition to the vice president's present salary of $30,000 per year, plus $10,000 for expenses.

Nixon himself, for obvious reasons, has never commented on the measure. He lives in a house which cost $41,000. During the 52 congressional action behind it came to naught when he made the famous dead stop after the Budget Bureau's explanation of his "funds" he ran out of stamp of approval on the idea.

Hake Convicted On Charge Of Passing Counterfeit Money

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Elmer Hake, 66-year-old Nashville, Ill., man was convicted Monday of passing and possessing counterfeit money by Federal Judge Fred L. Wham for whom he once served as foreman of a grand jury.

Hake, a former employee of the Illinois Highway Department, pleaded innocent to the charge. He was tried without a jury. Judge Wham set Oct. 26 for sentencing.

Hake was named foreman of a grand jury by Judge Wham in November, 1937.

Hake testified at the trial the money was given to him by Carl Zerbe, 61, also of Nashville, for service and assistance while Zerbe was sick and that he did not know it was counterfeit.

Hake was arrested by treasury agents at Okaville, Ill., last June 30.

Zerbe, a government witness at Hake's trial, previously had pleaded guilty to the same charges and was sentenced to two years in a federal medical center.

Treasury agents seized $8,000 in unfinished $10 bills and a set of engraving plates at Zerbe's home last July.

Air Force Surgeon Charged In Death Of Five Children

PANAMA, P. R.—A U. S. Air Force surgeon who volunteered to treat the sick in an isolated Panama community has been charged with manslaughter following the death of five children who took anti-malaria tablets he prescribed.

The American is Dr. Charles H. Barnes, 36, of Little Rock, Ark., stationed at Albrook Air Force Base in the Panama Canal Zone. Panama Canal officials at El Lirio, an interior village where the tragedy occurred, released him Monday night after he posted a $2,000 cash bond.

Officials said the five children, ranging in age from 10 months to 11 years, died early Sunday after taking tablets which Barnes had given them on a visit the previous day.

GRANT STORES TO MARK BIRTHDAY

Grant's store at 63 East Side Square is in readiness for the celebration of the 48th anniversary of the W. T. Grant Co., which will be featured by a special sale in every department.

J. A. McDonald, manager of the local Grant store, said that since W. T. Grant opened his first store in 1906 it has always been the policy of the company to accent values. Adhering closely to this policy, the manager pointed out, Grants has been able to grow from a single store to a coast-to-coast organization of more than 500 stores.

Sixty buying specialists from the W. T. Grant Co. in New York City have worked for a number of months in preparation for the anniversary sale in all W. T. Grant stores throughout the country.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The London plan for integrating West Germany's strength into the defense of Europe has passed its first hurdle but by no means toughest hurdle in the French Parliament.

Tuesday's vote merely authorizes the premier to go ahead and try to draw up a detailed treaty, in conference with the other powers beginning next week, which can get final approval.

Debate on the confidence motion showed clearly that important blocs will make a last ditch fight for greater controls over German arms than are envisioned under the present agreement in principle.

But Mendes-France has already been warned by Britain not to come to the drafting table with such claims for revision.

At the same time he is accused by those who supported the former European Defense Community plan of having scuttled that measure only to accept creation of a new German army under less sure controls than provided by EDC.

As a matter of fact, the London agreement looks so much worse from France's own standpoint than EDC that there is still a large measure of doubt in international circles that Mendes-France intends to go through with it.

This attitude has been somewhat eased by his stating the life of his government on Tuesday's vote of confidence. But the heroics of that action are somewhat blurred by the fact that the de-

Mr. Edison shows the world his incandescent light

On New Year's Eve, 1879, at Menlo Park, N.J. Thomas Edison staged the world premiere of the incandescent light. For more than two months after the invention of the lamp in October, the inventor and his assistants had worked feverishly in preparing the great public showing. The miraculous electric bulbs were strung on wires from tree to tree, in the laboratories and dwellings of bustling Menlo Park. Even the roads approaching the village were lined with lights strung from wires. When the big night arrived, 3,000 visitors poured into the small community. A special train brought prominent guests from New York City. Dozens of correspondents gathered to cover the great occasion. (Several weeks earlier, an ace New York reporter had nearly lost his job for reporting that the new bulb actually worked.) As the moment drew closer, excitement gripped the crowd. Mr. Edison stepped forward, pushed a small button and watched a wave of awe roll through the crowd—clear, brilliant light sprang to life all at once from hundreds of different bulbs! It was true—the "miracle" bulb worked! It was the dawn of the electric age—a major turning point in history. EASY LIFE for 'ATOMIC ANIMALS'

She's using instruments to check on radioisotopes in blood.

A VARIETY of animals are living it up in controlled comfort in a million-dollar animal hotel in Upton, N. Y. There's no need for humans to be envious, though, because the Brookhaven laboratory is using animals in research into radiation effects in life processes. Environmental conditions in the biology research building are rigidly controlled so that no variations can affect the animal's physical and emotional well being. Some 132 thermostats monitor temperature and humidity conditions in 17 rooms plus other laboratories. The animals are exposed to degrees of bombardment by neutrons and gamma rays and then examined for the effects. Other research involves the study of radioactive "tracers," which are routed through the body and tracked by Geiger counters. The new building can house as many as 12,500 animals.

'Going Nutting' Should Prove Popular Sport

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—"Going nutting crops up as an excuse besides fishing and hunting for the admirer of the Illinois autumn who seeks a reason for taking to the highways, fields and streams.

A simple activity, nutting requires for equipment only a basket or bag or big pockets.

Limitations are the boundaries of private property, the distance you can travel, the availability of nuts and your skill in recognizing what you are looking for.

Helpful qualities are an adventuresome spirit and the courtesy that keeps sportsmen from littering either private or public lands.

Dr. Glen Winterringer, Illinois state museum botanist, says black walnuts and shag bark hickory nuts are the most easily recognized of the edible nuts by the novice.

To such newcomers participating in this old fashioned autumn pastime, he points out that the black walnuts delicious insides are protected by a relatively strong smelling husk that stains almost indelibly and by an armorlike shell.

The black walnut tree is commonly found along roadsides. At this time of year, it is likely to be shedding its leaves or to be losing them to caterpillars, Dr. Winterringer says.

The green husks of the nuts are prominent on the branches or turning black, litter the ground beneath the tree.

Of the nine varieties of hickory nut trees in Illinois, the shag bark ranks as the most eye-catching because of the long strips of rough bark that hang loosely from the trunk.

The hickories are most commonly found in wood lands. Like the gamy flavored black walnut, the hickory nut meat is well protected. Its husk splits readily but the shell is tough.

Dr. Winterringer also recommends for edibility the hazelnut or filbert which may be found on bush-like small trees along both roadsides and in woods. It is easily cracked, compared to the black walnut and the hickory nut.

Lavender Hill Takes $61,500 Ladies Handicap

NEW YORK (AP)—Lavender Hill, owned by Mrs. Charles Silvers of Miami Beach, lodged a strong claim to the fillies and mares' championship Tuesday when she scored a stirring victory in the $61,500 Ladies Handicap before a crowd of 32,882 customers at Belmont Park.

The 5-year-old daughter of Flushing 2nd-Maupeque came from last place in the field of 15, charged down the stretch with a rush to catch the race-setting Open Sesame, and flashed under the wire a length and a half winner.

Open Sesame, 7-2 favorite owned by Walter M. Jeffers, tired in the final sixteenth of a mile and finished fourth. C. V. Whitney's Ming Yellow took the lead for a couple of jumps near the finish of the mile and a half race but couldn't hold on as jockey Stanley Small whipped Lavender Hill home for a winning purse of $43,400.

It was the richest purse since the ladies handicap was inaugurated in 1868.

Ming Yellow got second money from the King Ranch's Riverina.

Lavender Hill paid $10.10, $6.70 and $4.80. Ming Yellow paid $58.30 and $55.20. Riverina returned $4.20 for show.

American League Sluggers Blame Orioles' Park For Decrease In Homers

NEW YORK (AP)—American League batters, who hit 56 fewer homers in 1954 than they did in 1953, can blame some of the decrease on the Baltimore Orioles' park.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press Tuesday revealed only 42 home runs were hit in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, which supplanted Washington's Griffith Stadium as the toughest for Major League sluggers. The home run output in the Senators' park in 1954 was 52.

The Orioles accounted for 19 homers in their ball park, while the seven visiting clubs collected an aggregate of 23. Detroit managed to hit just one homer all season in Baltimore and the A's only connected twice.

Cincinnati's Crosley Park also replaced Ebbets Field, the Brooklyn Dodgers' home park, as the favorite home run haven in the majors. National League batsmen had a slugging feast at the Redlegs' ball park, connecting for 199 well, accounted for 69 homers and sound-trippers. Cincinnati players, other clubs combined for 70.

Oklahoma was all by itself at the top of the Associated Press' football poll Wednesday and appears due for a long tenancy following its road victory over Texas. But some of the other members of the elite top ten may run into trouble and demotion this weekend.

In rubbing out Texas 14-7 Bud Wilkinson's Sooners just about overcame their last formidable hurdle en route to an unbeaten season. This Saturday they journey to Lawrence, Kas., to take on winless Kansas (0-4) and it should be a romp for the Oklahomans.

As a result of its victory over Texas, Oklahoma (3-0) received landslide support from the nation's sports writers and sportscasters in the weekly ranking poll. Of the 201 ballots cast, the Sooners were named first 118 times and collected 1,797 points on the usual 10 for first, nine for second, etc., basis.

Wisconsin, 13-7 winner over Rice in the nationally televised game of the week, surged into second with 21 first placers and 1,555 points. Behind the Badgers came: 3 UCLA, 1,223 points; 4 Ohio State, 1,180; 5 Purdue, 929; 6 Duke, 889; 7 Mississippi, 730; 8 Notre Dame, 729 and tied for 9th, Penn State and Navy, 380 each.

While Oklahoma has a breeze ahead, Wisconsin (3-0) faces Purdue (2-0-1); Ohio State (3-0) meets dangerous Iowa (2-1); Duke (3-0-1), which tied Purdue 13-13, take on rising Army (2-1); 60-6 conquerors of Dartmouth; Notre Dame (2-1) has a toughie in Michigan State (1-2), and Penn State (3-0) has a tangle in undefeated West Virginia (2-0).

The other members of the upper crust shouldn't have any difficulty—on paper—over the weekend. UCLA's Bruins (4-0), who just squeezed by Washington 21-20, oppose Stanford, which was shellacked by Navy 25-0. Mississippi (4-0) meets winless Tulane (0-2-2), while Navy (3-0) travels to Pittsburgh to engaged the all-losing Panthers (0-3).

The leading teams with first place votes and season records in parentheses (points based on 10 for first place, 9 for second, etc.):

1. Oklahoma (118) (3-0) 1,797
2. Wisconsin (21) (3-0) 1,555

Former Major Leaguer Dies

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Walter Holke, one-time Major League first baseman and coach for the St. Louis Browns in 1939, died Tuesday. He was 62.

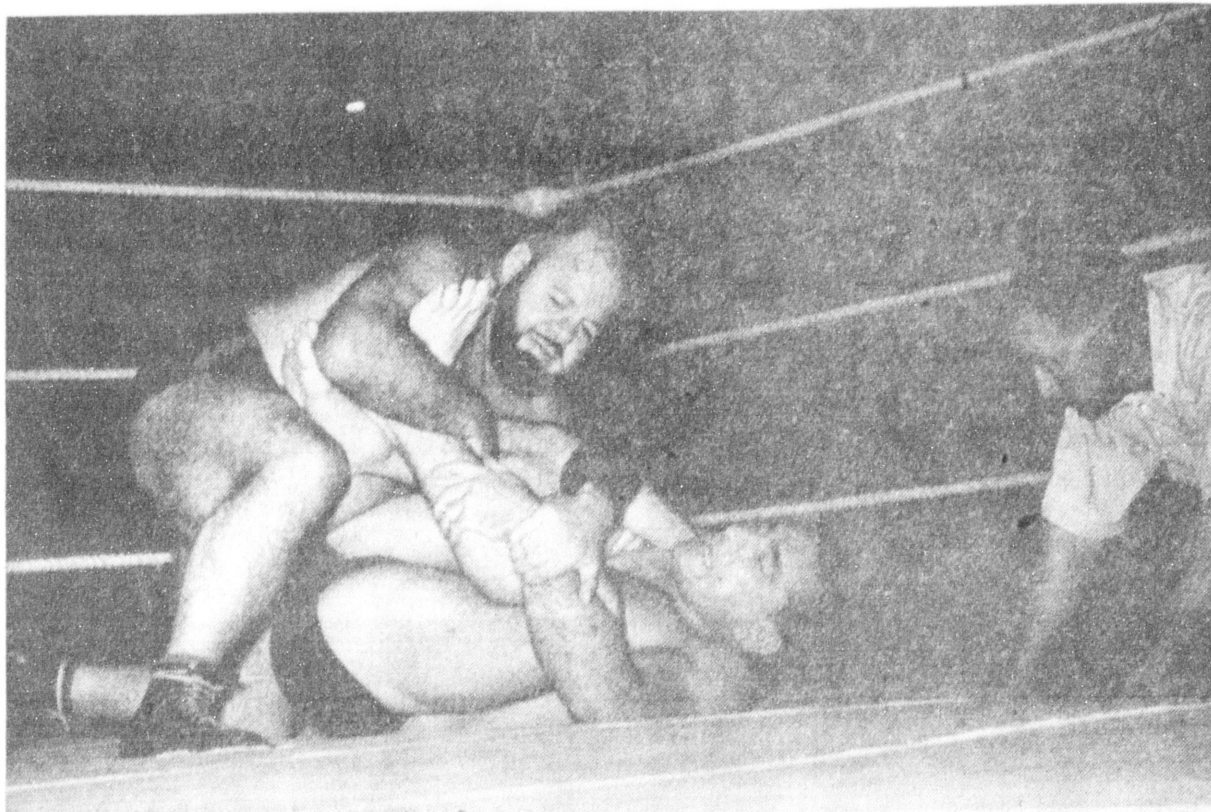

Holke began his Major League career with the New York Giants in 1914. He also played for the Philadelphia Phillies, Boston Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs.

He was the first baseman for Boston in the 26-inning, 1-1 tie game with Brooklyn in 1920, during which he handled 44 chances, 43 of them put outs.

Holke had a lifetime batting average in the majors of .287. He played with the Giants in the 1917 World Series.

KC'S FEATURE BOUT

The Knights of Columbus brought wrestling back to Jacksonville Monday night. Although it wasn't a sell-out, the people who attended really got their money's worth as these two wrestlers, Ivan Rasputin and Argentina Rocca, put on quite a show.

The picture above shows Ivan Rasputin on top of Rocca as the two have their arms full of each other. The photo on the right shows the winner, Argentina Rocca, tossing the Russian, Rasputin, over his shoulder in what turned out to be the finishing touch on Rocca's first fall. The second fall went to Rocca with a backbreaker hold.

The next wrestling card will be on November 22 when Verne Gagne, the world's champion, pays a visit to the local arena.

Illini Will Face Rugged Minnesota Eleven Saturday

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 12—Illinois' football team seeking to rebound from its first Big Ten defeat by Ohio State will face another rugged and versatile ball club in Minnesota Saturday. End Bob King, who has scouted the Gophers, said today.

"This is a veteran team—in fact, it's two teams because Coach Murray Warmath alternates two lineups without any great loss of effectiveness," King said. "It was the second unit which broke Northwestern's back last week after the Wildcats had played the first team on even terms for a quarter."

King praised the offensive ability of the McNamara brothers, Dick and Bob, at halfbacks, and feels Minnesota has two very capable quarterbacks in Geno Cappelletti and Dale Quist.

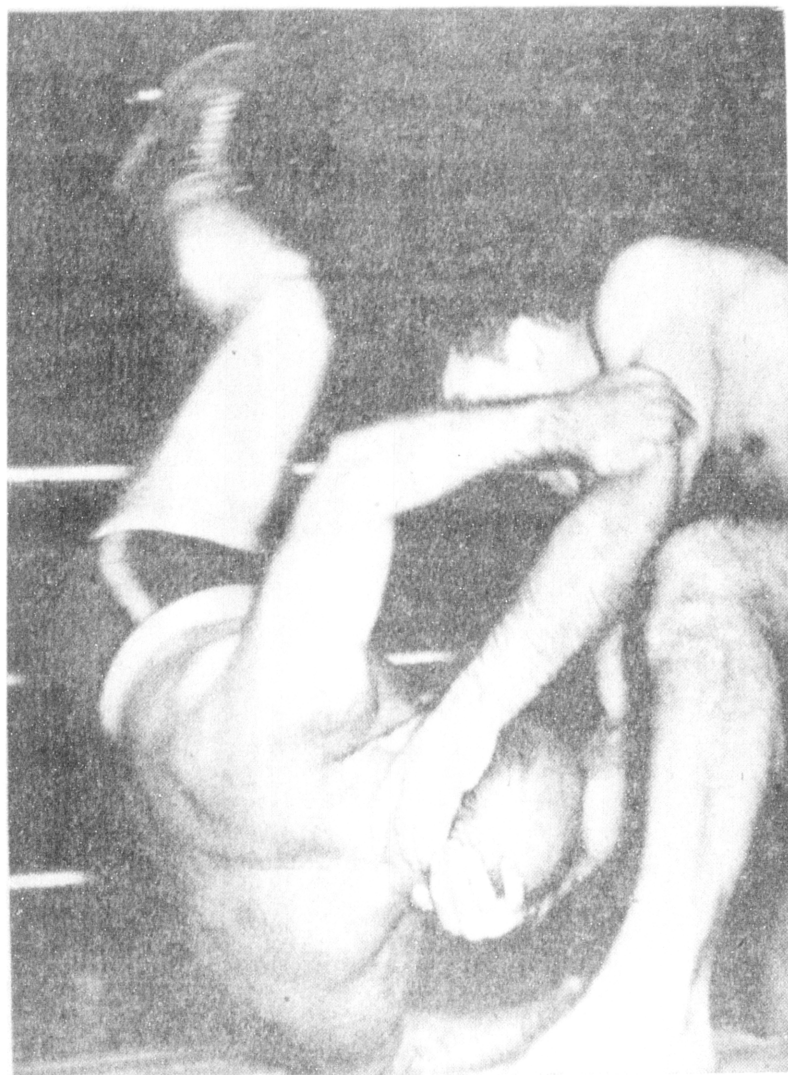

There's power, too, at the full-back slots with John Baumgartner and Frank Baehman, whom I'd rate about even in ability. In the Northwestern game Baumgartner went 84 yards in eight rushes, while Baehman picked up 55 yards in just six tries."

Minnesota's line has experienced personnel fine size and aggressiveness, King said. "We've played against men like Jim Soltau, Ron Smith, at Ends, Bob Haeneister, a fine guard, Gordon Holz, tackle, and Charles Stanschnor at center. Opponents don't get much relief when Coach Murray Warmath substitutes at any position either."

On basis of King's scouting reports, Illinois will seek to perfect some new offensive formations in practice sessions this week in an effort to upset the Gophers in Minnesota's Memorial Stadium Saturday.

After four days of work, the Illini will fly to Minneapolis Friday. Headquarters will be at the Nicolet Hotel.

'Don't Think The Club Can Afford To Dump Me', Jackie Robinson

By BARD LINDEMAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's volatile on and off the field performer, said Tuesday he doesn't think the Dodgers can afford to trade him and he expects to have a big year next season.

"I don't think the ball club can up and dump me. Where can they get a man who can play as many positions as I do and give a pretty good job at each one," Robinson said.

The 35-year-old Negro infielder, outfielder, who cracked baseball's color line for all time, when he broke it at first base for the Dodgers in 1947, writes off his '54 season and looks ahead to his fifth year in the major leagues.

Robinson hit .311 in 124 games this year and played at third base, second base and left field. He played with injuries most of the year and baseball writers said Robinson was through as a full-time competitor and should heed the toll of the bell. Robinson also grew into disfavor with the Ebbetts Field faithful.

"People don't know how I was hurting last season. I don't have two weeks in a row where I felt good," Jack said.

Robinson already has begun dedicating himself to next season. He's getting and what's more important, losing weight.

"I'm 217, two pounds lighter than when the season ended. My wife wants me to take off 17 pounds. I'll settle for 10," Jack said. "I'll come into camp at 205 and be 200 for opening day."

"I haven't lost my driving power on the road," Jack said in answer to the story he was becoming an unpopular figure where once he was a hero, a symbol.

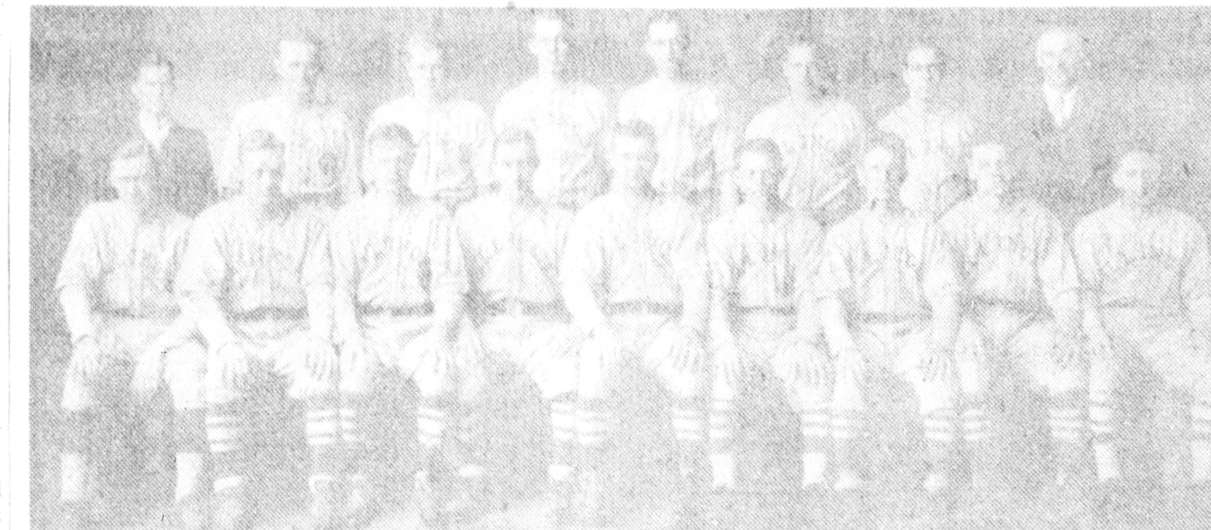

"I don't know what it is in Brooklyn. One man who said he was a good Dodger fan told me I was loved because I wasn't making the play in the field and coming up with the hit in the clutch like I used to."

"It's funny," Jack said, "because everything I do is for the fans."

Not only is the local college celebrating homecoming week this week, several other small colleges in the area are doing the same. The Carthage College Redmen will face the Miners of Wisconsin Institute of Technology from Platteville before their home town folks. The Miners will bring a seasoned squad to the Carthage school, 19 of which are returning lettermen.

—o—
The Redmen have lost the services of starting right end Gene Wensel and coach Art Keller is concerned about the homecoming tilt. The Miners boast a record of five straight wins after dropping their opener.

—o—
Another western Illinois school playing before a homecoming gathering will be the Western Leathernecks. They take on the Chippewas of Central Michigan in a 2:00 battle on Hanson Field in what is expected to be the year's toughest tussle for the Leathernecks.

—o—
While we're on the subject of football it's interesting to note 1/4 of the freshman squad of 44 at the University of Toledo are Illinois boys. This can probably be attributed to the fact that the coach of the Ohio school is "Frosty" England, former Arkansas State mentor, and once the football coach at JHS.

—o—
Even though J. C. Caroline hasn't had adequate blocking this year, the All-American halfback has managed to maintain a 5.2 yards per try rushing average. Illinois gained 24 yards against Ohio State and Caroline accounted for 81 of them.

Texas Center, Kurt Burris, Lineman Of Week

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Virtually the entire Oklahoma line came in for some sort of consideration for "lineman of the week" honors after the Sooners' smashing victory over Texas, but on the word of the Texas players who opposed him, center Kurt Burris gets the call.

Burris, a 6-foot-1, 205-pound senior from Muskogee, Okla., developed into an outstanding linebacker last season and it was that part of his performance that particularly impressed Texans Herb Gray, Ben Woodson and George Robinson.

On offense Kurt, whose older brother, Bobby, is the Sooner fullback, was just about as effective. "He's awfully hard to block," said Woodson. Added halfback Robinson: "That No. 51 Burris was really good. I had to block him a lot when they were in a 5-4 defense."

Kurt, who thinks it's fun to chase down runners who think he's big and slow, also shone on pass defense, knocking down one pass that was labeled touchdown.

Other Oklahoma linemen who drew special praise from the sports writers and broadcasters who saw the game were the two big ends, Max Boydston and Carl Allison, who turned in fine all-around performances.

Two Michigan linemen also came in for considerable mention. Ron Kramer, a 19-year-old end, caught a pass for Michigan's second touchdown against Iowa, then calmly kicked the extra point for a 14-13 victory. Center Jim Bates was outstanding on defense.

2 Leading Jockeys Escape Communism

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Romania's two leading jockeys, who said they had "more than enough" of life under communism, escaped to West Berlin last Sept. 23 after riding in a Communist racing meet in East Berlin.

The Voice of America Tuesday identified the two as Ariside Cucu, 36, and Joan Pall, 24, Romania's one-two jockeys.

Now under the care of the U. S. escape program, the two gave statements to the Voice for broadcast to Romania and other countries behind the iron curtain.

On the day of their escape, Cucu said, they managed to slip away from their guards at the track and board a train to the center of East Berlin.

"In East Berlin," Cucu said, "we simply boarded a streetcar and rode into West Berlin. It was amazingly easy."

Somdej Yontrakit Stops Titi Clavel

BANGKOK (AP)—Somdej Yontrakit, welterweight champion of the Orient, Tuesday night stopped France's Emanuel Titi Clavel in the third round of a 10-round before 60,000 fans in Bangkok's National Stadium. Somdej weighed 146½, Clavel 148½.

Thai Referee Chuer Chaksarak halted the bout early in the third when a left hook by Somdej opened a deep cut over Clavel's left eye.

The Frenchman had Somdej down for an eight count in the first round, but the Thaiander rallied to stagger Clavel in the second with a series of left hooks to the head.

Am. League Owners Approve Kansas City As New Home For 'A's'

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO (AP)—American League club owners Tuesday night approved a switch of the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City, but must wait until Monday to learn if Roy and Earle Mack will sell their stock in the club.

Presumably this meant that Arnold Johnson of Chicago has clear sailing to purchase the A's and switch the club to Kansas City, although it was not immediately certain what would happen if the Mack brothers did not agree to dispose of their stock.

The announcement of the approval of Kansas City as a new home for the A's was made by Earl Hilligan, American League publicist, following a day long session in which five offers were made for the Philadelphia club.

One of the offers was from a rich Texas group which proposed to move the A's to Los Angeles. Johnson's bidding price was $3,375,000 for both the club and Connie Mack Stadium.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox and chairman of the league's realignment committee, said the vote to move the franchise to Kansas City was unanimous.

"What it all amounts to simply is this," he said. "The Macks have until 10 a. m. (CST) Monday to make a deal with Johnson."

A league spokesman said "Roy Mack told the meeting that he wanted the sale to Johnson completed. Therefore there is little question but that the whole thing will materialize. Roy was so emotionally upset that he left the meeting before it was all over and said before going that he wanted to talk the whole thing over with the family in Philadelphia."

Johnson said he would be in Philadelphia this weekend to talk it all over with Roy Mack.

League President Will Harridge said that Roy Mack "tentatively has accepted Johnson's offer." Earle Mack, Roy's brother, and his 92-year-old father, Connie, for months have attempted to sell the A's to Johnson and their approval is regarded automatic.

Harridge explained the reason the proviso for only Earle and Roy was mentioned in the sale was because they were the only two members of the Mack family present.

Harridge said that Roy Mack told the league owners that Johnson made the only actual solid offer for the A's.

Johnson, 47, wealthy business executive with diverse interests, offered Roy Mack an executive position with the new club which Johnson said he would call the Kansas City Athletics.

Harridge explained the reason the league owners agreed to a franchise shift of the A's from Philadelphia to Kansas City, before final approval by the Macks, was because the owners were all assembled and it would eliminate the necessity of calling them all together again when Roy Mack seemed sympathetic to Johnson's offer Tuesday.

Johnson said he regarded the deal as completed and Wednesday planned to send a corp of engineers and architects into action on plans to increase the Kansas City Blues Stadium from a seating capacity from 16,000 to 35,000 before the 1955 season begins.

Johnson said he must make restitution to the New York Yankees for displacing their Blues farm club and to the American Assn. for territorial rights. He did not indicate what the amount might be.

The announcement of the league action was made about an hour after Roy Mack left the meeting in an apparently emotional mood. Roy Mack had bitterly opposed efforts of Connie and Earle to sell the club ever since midsummer when Johnson first made his offer.

At a meeting of club owners in New York two weeks ago on Sept. 28, Roy had asked 14 days grace for an attempt to raise $550,000 to buy out his father and brother.

Football Briefs

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Coach Bob Voigt made several promotions and position changes Tuesday in an effort to prepare his Northwestern Wildcats for the Michigan game Saturday.

The biggest change was promoting Bob Higley, a 6 foot, 210 pound senior, to first string guard. Higgin replaces Merle Searcy.

Another change put sophomore Ted Ringer as second string center in place of Tom Calloway.

Three sophs were also switched around. Quarterback Ed Broeker worked at left half, Kurt Kureger went from end to tackle and Don Rabis from tackle to guard.

The Wildcats held a hard scrimmage on a muddy field.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois' varsity drilled on defense Tuesday with the freshmen using Minnesota plays.

The Illini announced that tackle Rudy Siegart will not be able to play against Minnesota and will probably miss the Syracuse game.

Siegart suffered a cleat wound in the leg last week and missed the Ohio State game.

Also on the injured list are tackles Roger Wolf and George McAfee, center Mike Guinan and guard Dave Walker. All but McAfee are expected to play Saturday.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's football team spent a lengthy practice session under fair skies Tuesday sharpening up offensive and defensive fundamentals for Saturday's date here with Illinois.

End Ron Smith, and guards Elden Dahl and Jerry Rau worked out in sweat clothes. Smith, who received a shoulder separation in the Northwestern game is a very doubtful starter Saturday. Dahl and Rau have sprained knees.

First string fullback John Baumgartner, who suffered a bruised hip Saturday, wore sweat pants, but is expected to be ready for Illinois.

Cumulative figures for the first three games shower Baumgartner, Bismark, N. D., the most potent ground gainer among the Gophers with an average of 8.3 yards in 27 carries. The team average is 5.1.

Johnson Cops Shooting Event

BUDAPEST (AP)—Lt. Harlan Johnson of Champaign, Ill., Tuesday won the pistol shooting event to take over fourth place in the world modern pentathlon championship.

The 26-year-old Army officer and Hungary's Istvan Szondy each accumulated 940 points in the shooting, but the American was awarded first place because he had a better score in the last round.

Ens. W. J. Andre of the U. S. Naval Academy finished 16th in Tuesday's competition to wind up eighth in the overall standings with 2,503.5 points. Two more events will complete the tournament.

Oregon's Quarterback Is Nation's Busiest

NEW YORK (AP)—The "let George do it" guy in college football this season is Oregon's quarterback, George Shaw.

He is the country's busiest back on the basis of plays participated in and is the individual leader as well as holder of the No. 1 spot among the passers.

In his spare time he does the punting for Oregon, converts the touchdowns and is the teams specialist in returning punts. He learned how to be the busiest field general by being a defensive platoon player three years ago and in addition to signal-calling has been shifted to end or halfback to make use of his pass-catching abilities.

TV fans will get to see him in action Saturday when the Oregon Webfoots mix with Southern California at Portland.

Shaw has gained 661 yards in 117 running and passing attempts. As a passer he has thrown 83, completed 41 and gained 580 yards. He has been in 139 plays of all types. Each one of those numbers is the coun-

New York Stock Market

AD-STOCK MARKET—Tobacco shares weakened Tuesday in a moderately lower stock market.

The session was a quiet affair because of Columbus Day. Losses went to around 2 points while a few key stocks managed to post gains that went to between 1 and 3 points.

Tobacco was sold freely right from the start with large blocks dotting the tape at the opening.

A renewal of the discussion of the relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer was credited by brokers as the cause for the selling.

Here are some closing prices and net losses of tobacco stocks: American Tobacco off 1/4 at 59 1/4; Reynolds Tobacco "B" off 1/4 at 38; Philip Morris off 1/4 at 38 1/4; Liggett & Myers off 1/4 at 61 1/4; and Lorillard off 1/4 at 23 1/4.

Illinois Central, which was reported ready to call its 6 per cent convertible preferred, gained 1/4 at 49 1/4.

Montgomery Ward was up 1/4 at 74 1/4. The gain was made while Louis E. Wolfson, Florida financier, said in Chicago that the group he heads now owns more than a half million shares of Ward common which he will use to attempt to gain control of the company.

The Associated Press average of 90 stocks was down 50 cents at $35.90. It was off 90 cents Monday and now stands $1.50 under the 25-year high mark established a week ago Tuesday.

Volume amounted to only 1,620,000 shares, lowest in more than a month. Monday's total came to 2,100,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly lower on 630,000 shares as compared with 830,000 shares Tuesday.

LACK OF DEMAND DROPS PRICES

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO (AP)—All grains sold off on the Board of Trade Tuesday in a market featured mainly by a lack of demand.

It was the first time there has been trading in grain futures on Columbus Day in modern times—and it looked as if the bulls still thought it was a holiday. At any rate, they weren't at all aggressive.

Wheat closed 3/4-1 1/2 lower, corn 1/4 to 1 cent lower, oats 1/4-1/2 lower, soybeans 1/4-1/2 lower, and lard unchanged to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Clearing weather, particularly in Iowa, was a factor in the sell-off of both corn and soybeans. Little corn has been picked in the main Corn Belt because of recent rains and relatively high moisture content. The five day weather outlook was reasonably optimistic about clearing weather.

The Agriculture Department Monday predicted a corn crop of 2,949,643,000 bushels, down slightly from its month ago forecast of 2,972,641,000 bushels, but this appeared to have little influence on the market.

However, the department's report may have had some influence on soybeans. It estimated that crop at 331,271,000 bushels, up a little from its month ago estimate of 324,713,000.

Brokers thought, however, that the main reason for the drop in soybeans was the fact the market had been overbought in the previous session. Tuesday's decline did not cancel out all of Monday's upturn.

Radio Program Election In Illinois Could Determine Balance Of Party Power In Congress

AD-ELECTION IN ILLINOIS. By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL.
CHICAGO (AP)—A jumble of political cross currents is tugging at Illinois voters in one of the outstanding races of the 1934 election.

Caught in the swirls and eddies are harshly conflicting elements of liberalism and conservatism, of internationalism and isolationism, and strident, rival charges that servant of socialism, the other of selfish interests.

Out of this maelstrom on Nov. 2 will come a second Senate term for Democrat Paul H. Douglas, of a first one for the GOP's political newcomer, Joseph T. Meek.

This is a contest which Adlai E. Stevenson, former Illinois governor, and the 1932 Democratic presidential nominee, rates as "one of the most significant in the nation."

To some degree, it provides a 1934 test, a new showdown on an old battlefield between the political prestige of Stevenson and the popularity of President Eisenhower. Each has dabbled a finger in the campaign.

Here in Illinois, where there are people out of jobs, sickly coal mines and rustlings of discontent among farmers, the balance of party power in the next Congress could well be established.

In addition to the Senate seat, 25 House seats are at stake—16 Republican, 9 Democratic. Republicans claim, and Democrats concede, that the GOP may gain a couple of congressmen from Chicago and one downstate.

For their part, Democrats have hopes of taking one Republican seat in Chicago and three downstate. One of the downstate districts is that of Rep. Harold Velde, a controversial figure as chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee. But it is with more hope than expectation that Democrats are eyeing his 18th District.

The turnovers in both directions could just about cancel out, with the gain of a seat or two for either party but no great shift in the congressional alignment.

The outcome of the Senate scrap may be anything from a squeaky victory to a sizable sweep. Battle lines still are fluid, and the heavy windup campaigning in Chicago and its Cook County suburbs is yet to begin.

Professionals on both sides are making the customary victory claims. But they don't know who is going to boost the winner's pen and neither, of course, does anyone else. You meet a good many people in filling stations or on street corners who say they don't know yet how they'll vote.

At the moment, most of the hunch players are inclined to let their money ride on Douglas. There are factors at work in this election that offer a measure of encouragement to the Democrats.

The Republicans, however, are going all-out to win this one against Douglas, a champion of the New Deal and "Fair Deal," a man they regard as an apostle of gloom and doom.

From Eisenhower down, top leaders of the GOP have invaded Illinois or are on the way to the oratorical firing line. Democrats have countered with Stevenson and other big guns.

Meek has the advantage of GOP control of the state government and its big patronage system. While he is a fresh, new figure in politics, he is widely known and widely liked around the state by reason of numerous speeches and attention to the affairs of the Illinois Federation of Retail Assns.

Meek lobbied for the organization for some 20 years as its executive secretary and president—a fact Douglas doesn't overlook from the campaign stump. The federation is made up of merchants over the state. Meek says there are some 50,000 or 60,000 of them and if he wins it will be largely due to their support.

Meek himself is a stocky bit of perpetual motion on the campaign trail. He is 50 and looks younger. He can make a rousing speech that sounds convincing even when he trips over some of his own oratory. Mostly, he talks of peace and prosperity under the GOP, of keeping the Eisenhower "crusade" going, and of Douglas as a "pink professor" who is "the arch representative of socialized government planning."

A more erudite if less forceful speaker than his challenger, Douglas is swinging along the political circuit calling for steps to ward off a depression and trying to call Meek as the spokesman of "the special interests."

The 62-year-old senator and his lieutenants are counting on unemployment and discontent among farmers to pile up Democratic votes Nov. 2.

In 1948, when President Truman captured Illinois by only 34,000 Douglas won by a margin of more than 400,000—all of it and more from strategic Chicago and Cook County.

The British-American-Yugoslav Commission painted a yellow stripe up one side of the house, across the roof and down the other side.

It marked the new border agreed upon by Italy and Yugoslavia in settlement of their nine-year-old Trieste free territory dispute.

Eller, an Italian, pleaded tearfully with the commission members to leave his whole house in Italy, but the Yugoslav members would not agree.

Another Italian farmer, Giusto Samec, had better luck. He moved out of his house after being told it would go to Yugoslavia under the settlement.

Tuesday the commission found it had made a slight mistake. It readjusted the border by 40 yards and put Samec's house back in Italy. He and his family promptly moved back in.

WOMAN IN IRON LUNG GIVES BIRTH TO SON

DES MOINES (AP)—Mrs. Eugene McGee, 26, of Jefferson, who has been in an iron lung pool patient in a hospital here since Sept. 12, gave birth Tuesday to a 6 pound, 8 ounce son.

The attending physician said the mother was doing as well as could be hoped for and that the baby was fine.

Mrs. McGee was removed from a full length respirator during the birth and anesthesia equipment used to sustain her. A special chest respirator was at hand but was not needed. Mrs. McGee was given several transfusions.

Her husband, a senior at Iowa State College, voiced his happiness at the successful arrival of his son, and said all hopes are now directed toward his wife's recovery. He has been driving the 30-miles to Des Moines after classes each day to spend the evenings with her.

Power Contract Risk Free Project, Post Dispatch Says

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Post-Dispatch reported Tuesday the long-secret Dixon-Yates contract contains provisions giving the private power combine "a virtually risk-free guarantee of earning 9 per cent on invested capital of 5 1/2 million dollars."

The newspaper said in a copy-righted dispatch from Washington, written by Richard Duman, that it obtained access to a copy of the controversial contract.

"Examination of the new draft gives support to charges of its opponents that it provides a virtually risk-free proposition for the Dixon-Yates group," the newspaper said.

The Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy was informed last week by the Atomic Energy Commission that the AEC has approved the form of a proposed contract under which the Dixon-Yates combine would turn electric power into lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The joint committee has postponed until after the Nov. 2 election its hearings on the contract. Copies of the revised contract were mailed Monday to members of the joint committee, the newspaper said.

The committee chairman, Rep. W. Sterling Cole, said at his home in Bath, N. Y., that he had not seen the revised contract. He said he would not prejudice it, adding that "any advance criticism of the contract must necessarily be politically inspired."

Cole said "I am confident, however, that it will be a good contract in the best interests of the public welfare."

The Post-Dispatch said examination of an Oct. 1 draft of the proposed contract, described as the ninth draft in three months of negotiations, disclosed these main provisions:

1. Dixon-Yates may figure federal income taxes into its "basic capacity charge" to the AEC, including any future increase in income taxes.

2. Without consent of the AEC, Dixon-Yates may pledge or transfer the contract at any time to pay debts connected with the construction of a $107,250,000 steam-electric power generating plant at West Memphis, Ark.

3. The combine is freed of responsibility if it ever fails to deliver electricity because of "cause beyond control of the company"—but the AEC must keep up its payments to the combine as if service had been continuous.

Floods Menace Northern Indiana

section.

Rep. Ray Madden (D-Ind.) said Army Engineers already have surveys under way to study flood control measures for the Lake.

William L. Travis, Red Cross director at Hammond, said: "The water is receding. We have passed the crisis. We are out of immediate danger unless we have another downpour."

Lt. Col. Don C. Stinson, commander of the 113th Engineers Battalion of guardsmen, said 50,000 more sandbags had been ordered from Indianapolis and 50,000 from Chicago. However, he ordered the 350 guardsmen from Gary, Whiting and Valparaiso off sandbagging details.

A crack was found in the Lake George Dam on Deep River, a Little Calumet tributary, at Hobart, but the dam was expected to hold. Schools reopened there, after a day which many students spent shooting rats driven out of flooded dumps.

A Chicago National Guard unit was called out for flood duty in Illinois suburbs south of the city, also menaced by the Little Calumet flood.

A state of emergency was proclaimed at Ottawa, Ill., 80 miles southeast of Chicago, where 65 families were chased from their homes by floodwaters of the Fox and Illinois Rivers. Coast Guardsmen from Chicago helped a National Guard detail guard the flooded area, but the Fox began receding.

SUSPECT

XXVI
AN echo of Philip Stoneman's mind flashed through Jim's. "You planned for money, a husband for Mrs. Kit, and an easy life?"

"Yes," Kit answered. "You try to make it sound horrible. I don't know why you should. Sue and I were left alone when our parents died. We had to plan, because we had our own way to make. Sue went to work in a private home, worked up until she got good money as a cook. We didn't see each other much, and then only in secret. We'd decided I was to have schooling, she made the money to keep us alive, but I worked hard too. And now, well, I'm married to Peter Carlson, and I could pretend to hire Sue as my cook, so we could share."

Jim said, "Didn't the San Francisco police find out your true relationship?"

Mrs. Gelstrap giggled. "No, they didn't. We covered it well. I kept in the background, gave money and advice while Kit... she hesitated."

"Shopped around?" Jim suggested.

"That isn't quite the way to put it," Kit said seriously. "Sue always said it was just as easy to fall in love with a man with money. And I want you to get one thing straight, Peter is my husband now, and we're very much in love."

"Peter is afraid of Mrs. Hilton. Actually afraid. You've seen that horrid whip. He—Peter has told me of his mother's sudden rages, of the beatings she gave him as a child. Beatings for him, and for his sister Angela too."

Jim was much interested to learn that Mrs. Kit was far enough outside the family circle down on her. I had to raise it to get her out."

"You said you were going to have a talk with Mrs. Oswald. Did you tell her that?"

"Yes."

Jim could understand now why the old woman had been so eager for him to make the investigation. Miss Wister would tell him how she had found the body.

Death by accident would be a foregone conclusion, and Jim, as an apparently disinterested witness, would wield a big brush in applying the coat of whitewash to the remaining Carlsons.

"It's a simple enough and usual enough situation. My folks never had any money, even though there was the kinship to millions. But they tried to keep up. They broke their hearts trying. I made up my mind early I wouldn't make that mistake at least. I made another just as bad. I was fool enough, after my parents died, to go to Mrs. Oswald for help. I wanted to go to college. She suggested a secretarial course. She arranged a part scholarship for me in such a school, and she got me a job waiting on tables for the rest of my tuition. I never asked her for any other help."

Jim decided to fill in Miss Wister's long pause with a question. "You were supposed to come up here with a report. I gather there is such a report."

"Yes. And that's one reason I gave you my resignation. I'll still give it to you if you want. But I couldn't tell you what actually happened. I was afraid you would tell everything to the sheriff."

Jim asked gently, "You found out that Angela was Agnes Argy's child?"

Mrs. Wister let out a sigh of relief. "Yes. I'm so glad you know. But can't you see how I saw things? I couldn't tell you the truth about what actually happened without telling you at the same time about Angela on you wouldn't tell everything to Agnes Argy. Oh, I suppose that sounds mixed up to you, but it isn't. Maybe there's too much Carlson in my make-up after all."

HIGHWAY PRODUCE
RED BANK, N.J. (AP)—There are enough signs on the Garden State Parkway to keep you from getting lost, but if you do you shouldn't starve. The north Jersey shore superhighway boasts of peach and apple orchards in the center island and outer margins plus berries, mushrooms and vegetables.

Of course, unless you are lost and starving, picking berries and fruit is forbidden. A parkway official put it this way: The highway would become a desert in a short time if motorists were allowed to forage at will.

A U. S. Office of Education survey in 43 states shows that nearly half of all school buildings are more than 30 years old and one in five are more than 50 years old.

Beauty, Comfort In I.C. Dorm Arrangement

B. E. M. TOURTELLOT JR., in late spring and early fall when the central steam facilities are not in operation.

Full Use Of Daylight
The individual rooms are adequately spacious, each occupying an area of about 190 square feet, with fixed furniture carefully spaced and arranged to provide the maximum of open area for dressing and living functions and to enhance the feeling of breadth. Each student has a desk at right angles to the window, which provides daylight from the left side and a broad view of the pleasant greenward of the campus. Draw draperies are provided to curtain the continuous window, which has its sill just above desk height. Single beds of the studio type, arranged for box bed-spreads, are placed at opposite sides of the room and serve as additional seating during the day.

A double dresser unit and a double closet are arranged along the corridor wall of the bedrooms. These units, together with the entrance door, are finished in natural red birch, providing a complete wood paneled wall effect which gives a pleasing contrast to the masonry textured side walls and the continuous window wall opposite. Placement of closet and built-in dressers in the manner described tends to muffle and "screen out" corridor noises. Partition materials were also carefully studied for the minimum of sound transmission and acoustical tile was provided on the corridor ceilings.

Each dresser unit has two tiers of drawers and a sliding mirror arranged to give access to storage space behind it and there is an additional storage compartment above. Wall-hung bookshelves at each side of the room save floor space and add a decorative accent to the walls. Color has been used freely, with a variety of alternative schemes in individual rooms, to create a homelike and pleasant atmosphere. Continuous tack strips have been provided to afford the students a convenient means of hanging pictures and wall decorations.
